Our time begins with August 27

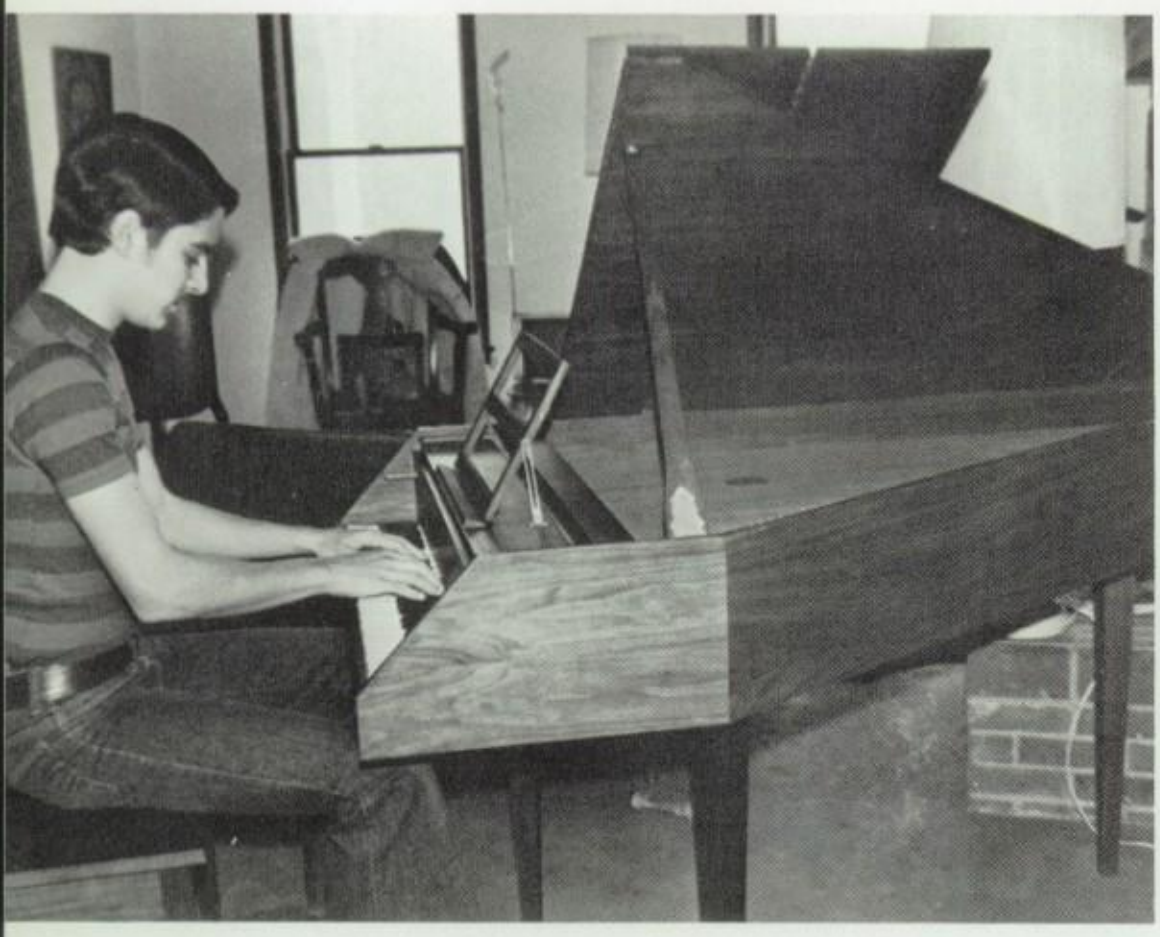
Varied scenes greeted Centralites at the beginning of their 1975-76 school year. Sophomores timidly reviewed their schedule cards, self-confident juniors conversed on last year's events and seniors paraded boldly through the halls. Nevertheless, everyone had to adjust to a few changes.

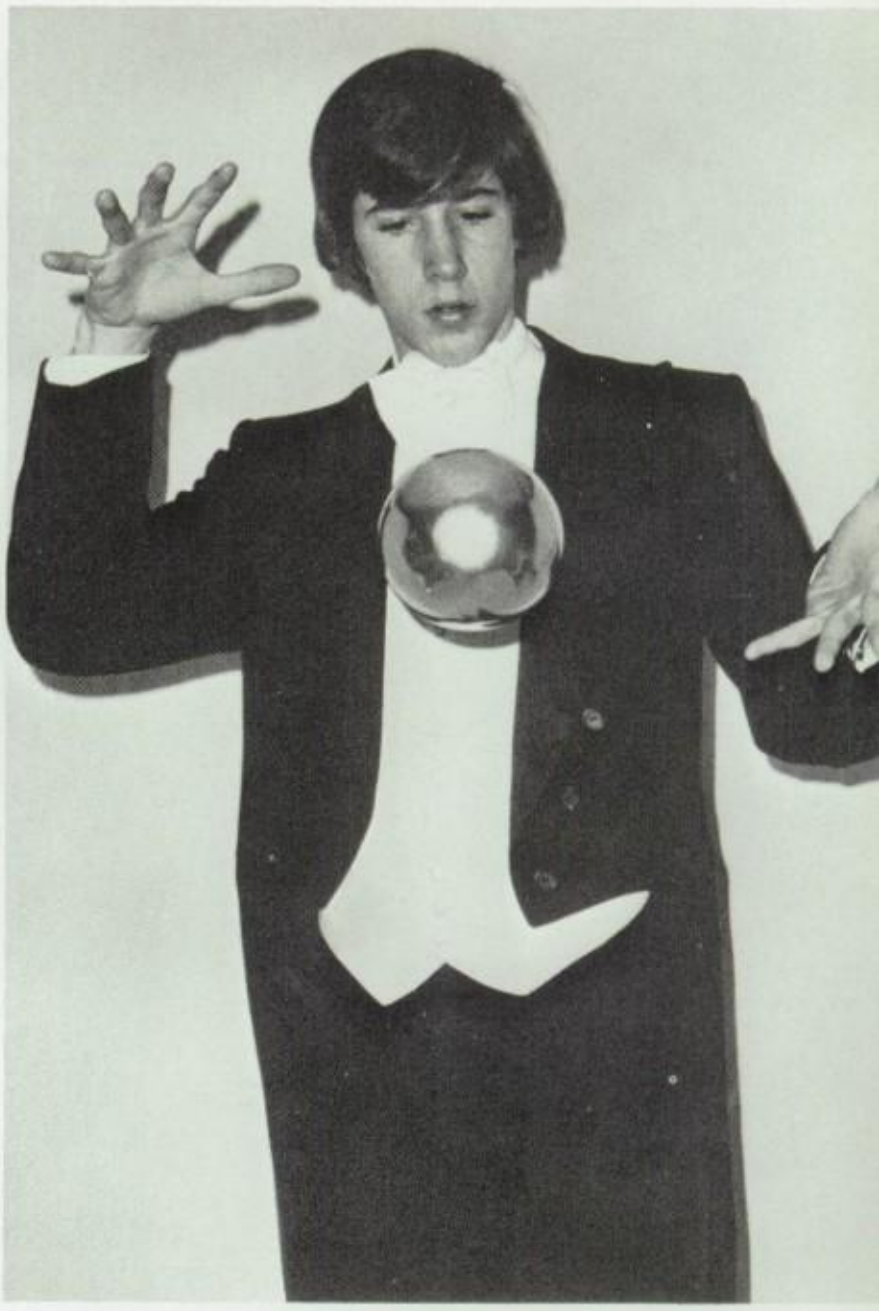
Along with twelve new faculty members and principal Raymond E. Pensel, came changes in teaching methods, as well as in policies. A 7:45 a.m. bell and a combined junior and senior parking lot were two of the major policy changes presented the first day of classes.

Students who were new to the four-year old trimester plan got their first taste of four and five module classes. Others remembered what two or two and one half hour classes felt like and settled back into concentrating on how to sleep with their eyes open and take notes at the same time.

Computers which made out student schedule cards broke down creating confusion among pupils. These first trimester cards, sent through the mail, showed generous credits for lunch, study hall and homeroom.

These incidents and others produced the atmosphere of a new and unique school year.





Hobbies characterize Centralites' interests

Unusual interests, pets, and hobbies were easily found in the extra-curricular activities of Central students. Although many people were involved in school sponsored events, sports or spirit squads, some preferred their individual interests such as raising a boa constricter or taking magic lessons.

Some hobbies, not quite so unusual but still interesting, could be pursued during the school day. Ceramics, horticulture, auto mechanics and other classes provided opportunities to enjoy a hobby and learn at the same time. After-school clubs also offered time out for leisure.

Flying, collecting beer cans and building unique musical instruments were only a few of the hobbies in our time.

Our time sees shadows of 1776

Famous cries such as "Give me liberty, or give me death" sounded through Central's auditorium as a choir production kicked off the school's celebration of America's 200th anniversary.

Talent from all around the Cape Girardeau area joined with students at CHS in the production, "The Spirit of America." Participants in the show included newscasters from KFVS-TV, Don McNeely and David Haas, playing the roles of Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson.

Issued as a bicentennial salute was a 12-page edition of The Tiger, which accented historical features.

Promising art students displayed their ability early in the year as they entered a city-wide bicentennial art contest. Beverly Wilhelm, junior, captured first place in the contest with her pencil sketch of an American revolutionary soldier. Second, third and fourth places went respectively to Tim Smirl and Cathy Osborn, juniors, and sophomore Dawn Erlbacher.

As the festivities progressed, students observed changes in even the most ordinary objects around them. Quarters, Kennedy half-dollars and silver dollars took on a new look. The face side of these coins contained a 1776-1976 currency date and various revolutionary scenes on the flip side.

Other bicentennial oddities came about in our time, some more unusual than others. Take, for instance, the fact that it was perhaps the first and the last year to see a combination red, white and blue ice-cream.

Mood rings reveal emotions

Jewelry livened up the hands of Centralites as a mood ring craze swept the nation. The ring reacted to body temperature by changing to various colors.

Leg warmers, knitted wool worn from the ankle to the hip, was just one of the many fads and fashions that dominated our time.

Companionship has been found year after year in pets, and during the 1975-76 school year pet rocks captured the interest of students. An important attribute of the rocks was their ability to sit on command.

Earth shoes, chokers for males and large purses were other fashions and fads appearing in our time.

Laughter eases frustrations

Contrary to popular opinion, an average day at Central isn't all serious. Despite the vast amount of school work turned in every day, students were found acting like monkeys, making strange faces, or just bursting into laughter to let out their school day anxieties.

Our time at Central saw many of these frustrating days which were overcome by brief lapses of insanity.

Procedural changes come with our time

Rumors, questions and half truths ran rampant through the student body as changes were being made in administrative procedures. Differences were expected because a new principal, Raymond E. Pensel, was hired.

One of the first changes to actually affect students was the 7:45 bell. Pupils were not allowed to enter the building, with the exception of the library, gym and rec room, until 7:45. The tradition of separate junior and senior parking lots was abolished and sophomores were allowed to drive to school.

Two months after school began, all candy sales, a major money making project for school clubs were discontinued. "The sales took away from class time, and we have a very obvious litter problem," stated Mr. Pensel.

Field trips restricted to the regular class period and required finals were other changes initiated early in the year.

These and other new procedures were accepted as the year progressed.

Speakers enliven classroom hours

Classroom hours in our time involved widely varying teaching methods. Guest speakers, audio-visual aids, in-depth class discussions and frequent breaks enhanced these hours.

Science and home economics courses offered labs in which students applied what they had learned to various situations. Art, drama and composition courses allowed pupils to build talent and creativity.

Classes consisting of four or more modules offered breaks. Students took advantage of this time to utilize the new cold water drinking fountains placed on the first and second floors.

Schorr addresses annual convention

Amid national controversy over a news leak, CBS news analyst Daniel Schorr came to Cape to address the opening assembly of the SEMO District Teachers Association.

Similar to the area's Student Council Convention, the meetings of the SEMO Teachers Association were enhanced by topic centered meetings, a general assembly and a spaghetti lunch, sponsored by the Student Council of CHS.

Central hosts SC convention

"Give your best to the world and the best will come back to you" established the setting as representatives from 37 schools gathered at CHS for the 30th Annual Southeast Missouri Student Council Convention.

Selected as hosts along with Notre Dame for the 1975 convention, Central's Student Council members began preparing for the event early last spring in order to be ready for the October 11 deadline.

Highlights of the convention included discussion groups, "Thoughts for the Day," given at various intervals during the general assemblies, and the Keynote and Afternoon Addresses, which were delivered by guest speakers.

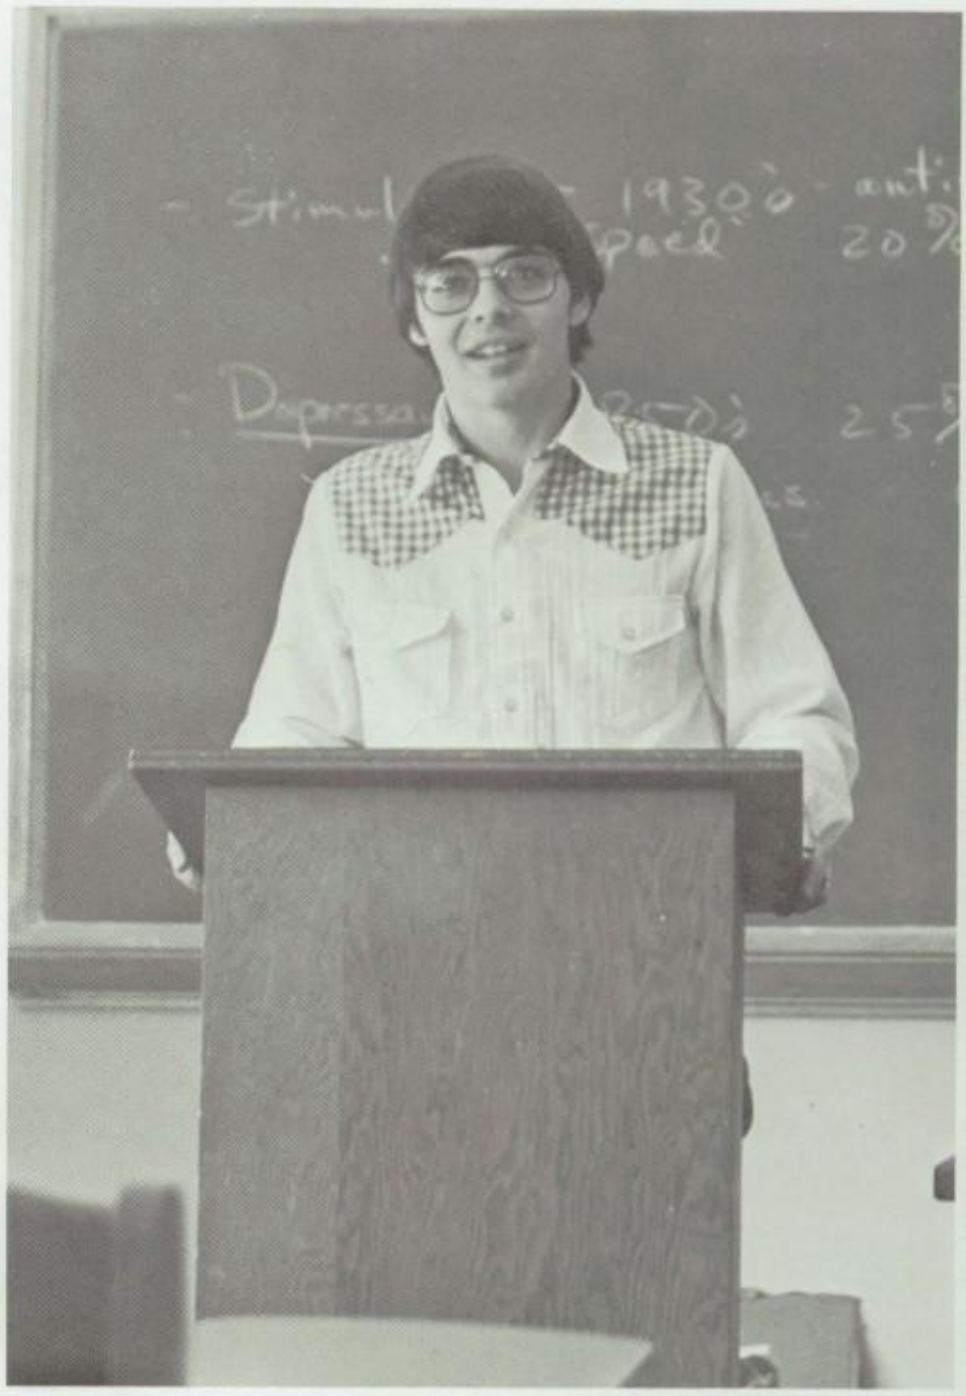
Soap operas captivate students

Suicide, swindles and sex were the plots dominating daytime television serials viewed by over 65% of Centralites in our time.

"The Young and the Restless" ranked as the most favored soap opera. "As the World Turns" was second in popularity followed closely by "Edge of Night." The most popular "soap" was aired during many students' lunch module.

Reasons for watching soap operas varied among viewers. Many students said the program did not relate to events in their own lives, admitting at the same time that they enjoyed knowing of problems which made their own seem minute. In contrast, lack of realism was the predominate motive for non-viewers.



ABOVE, "Search For Tomorrow" characters Millee Taggart and John Cunningham act out a scene from their "soap". Bond issue brings additions to Central

Millions of dollars will be spent on a new physical education facility during the next year.

A bond issue for the new gym was passed by Cape Girardeau voters on October 15, 1975, by a margin of 77%. Money used for this project will be obtained through several bond issues amounting to two and one half million dollars. In addition, a federal grant will supplement any extra cost.

Construction of the new baseball diamond and parking lot were accomplished during our time, but the final completion date for the gym is unknown. However, partial occupancy is expected by the fall of 1977.

To obtain passage of the bond issue, much organization and time was spent on plans and preparation. Dr. Arthur E. Turner, superintendent of schools, and Mr. James Englehart, director of secondary education, headed most of the committees necessary for the planning of the new building. Administrators from Central, board members, and a few involved citizens spoke at various meetings explaining the advantages and disadvantages of the new gym to local clubs and organizations.

Central's new facilities will change not only the appearance and curriculum of the school, but the general outlook and spirit of students to come.

Polls aid in trimester's fate

Random polls given to students, parents and teachers aided in determining the fate of Central's trimester system.

Cape Girardeau's school board, after consulting this and other information, voted out the trimester system with only one member of the board dissenting.

Because of this vote, the trimester system became a memory added to nostalgia of our time.

Our time is now

Mercy killing, the Concorde SST, assasination attempts, national elections and the Patty Hearst drama were all added to the pages of history during our time.

Presidential primaries caught the attention of the nation. Most seniors, as well as a good portion of juniors, watched the proceedings with increased interest over the months. This was the first nation-wide election in which 18 year-old Centralites were allowed to vote.

Gun control became an increasingly important issue as two attempts were made on the life of President Ford. One of the attempts was made by a member of the Manson family, Lynette (Squeaky) Fromme, the other, by Sarah Jane Moore, a mother in her mid-thirties.

Patty Hearst's drama was ended with her apprehension. After "Tania's" capture, she was examined by several psychiatrists, tried in the courts, and found guilty of one count of bank robbery.

Euthanasia came into the news out of a controversy over sustaining the life of Karen Ann Quinlan after she regressed into an embryotic state while in a coma. The courts decided in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan who asked that their daughter be cut off from her respirator and allowed to live or die in a natural state.

These national events, along with the Bicentennial celebration, reflected upon the mood of our time.

Sports

Outstanding effort was the way to best describe Central's athletic teams. Boys' and girls' teams made a powerful impact on the Southeast Missouri sports scene, but only the girls' and boys' Track Team and a boys' Tennis doubles team ventured to state.

Girls' sports were once again expanding as basketball was added to the curriculum. It was also determined that next year the boys' schedules would be shortened and the girls' lengthened.

Effort and excitable fans all added to the athletic events of our time.

Defense shines in 4-5-1 season

Disappointing best describes Central's 1975 football season. Although the Bengal defense was among the best in the state, the offense managed to score in only four games.

The Parkway West game set the tone for the entire season with the defense providing a touchdown when senior linebacker John Jenkins stole the ball from the Parkway runner and ran unmolested for the score. Specialty teams provided nine points on Rick Webb's 75 yard punt return and a Webb field goal, making the score 15-7.

At Hazelwood, the defense again covered for lack of offensive power, making the final score 0-0.

Against Carbondale, Central's offense twice coughed up the ball inside the Bengal ten-yard line, giving Carbondale two quick touchdowns. A disappointing 28-0 was the final score. The next week, despite a strong second half showing, including a 64-yard Lee-Stiegemeyer touchdown pass, the Tigers lost to Paducah Tilghman 28-20.

The Bengal offense never got going and Jackson's lone touchdown provided a 7-0 winning margin, giving Jackson its first win over Central in 15 years.

Carrying a 1-3-1 record, the Tigers traveled to Poplar Bluff. Central's fans were elated when the Bengals dominated with a consistent ground game, out-gaining Bluff 187 yards to 165. Eric Lee's 16-yard first quarter touchdown run and Rick Webb's 32-yard second quarter field goal provided the 9-8 upset win.

Central's usually dominating defense allowed Sikeston three touchdowns which was too much for a Lee-Stiegemeyer touchdown pass to overcome. The Bulldogs went home with a 20-6 win.

The most impressive Bengal offensive showing of the season came against Kennett. With quarterback Eric Lee out with an injury, junior Lacey Bernard stepped in and did an excellent job, scoring three touchdowns himself. Pat McGill and Chris Stiegemeyer turned in strong running performances for the 45-6 win.

After conference hopes were dashed by a 7-4 Homecoming loss to Charleston, the Tigers traveled to Perryville for the final game of the year. Defensive end Jim Shrum's safety gave the Tigers a 2-0 win. The season ended with a 3-3 conference record and a 4-5-1 overall mark.

Five Tigers make All-Conference defense

As might be expected of a team that held conference opponents to just 48 points in six games, the Tigers placed five men on the All-Conference first team defense. Middle linebacker John Jenkins, outside linebacker Rick Webb and end Jim Shrum, the team's three leading tacklers, as well as tackle Chris Gross and back Gary Hargens were named to the elite group. Linebacker Randy Caldwell, offensive tackle Jim Abernathy and punter Eric Lee were named to the second team. Gaining honorable mention were fullback Chris Steigemeyer, defensive tackle Ivan Heuer, offensive guard Greg Hinton, defensive back John Niswonger and monster man John Schneider.

Jim Abernathy, Chris Gross, Gary Hargens, John Jenkins, Eric Lee, Jim Shrum, and Rick Webb were selected for the AAAA All-District team.

Punter Eric Lee and linebacker Rick Webb received an additional honor — both gained All-State honorable mention.

John Niswonger and John Jenkins led in interceptions with two apiece, while Jim Shrum and John Jenkins led in fumble recoveries with four and three, respectively.

On offense, Chris Stiegemeyer led in total yardage with 674 yards. He led the team in rushing, 329 yards; rushing average, 4.2 yards; receiving yardage, 242; pass receptions, 8; and scoring, 24 points.

Randy Caldwell was the leading kick-off returner with a 27.5 yard average. Rick Webb led in punt returns with 97 yards and one touchdown in six tries.

Tigers suffer 7-4 loss; Petzoldt crowned queen

Defense again was the dominant theme in the narrow 7-4 Homecoming defeat at the hands of the Charleston Bluejays. The Bengal's defense stifled the powerful Jay offense on every series — except one.

Two safeties, one by Ivan Heuer and another by Jim Shrum, were not enough to overcome the Jay's fourth quarter touchdown. Even though the Bengals had held the Jays to 117 yards rushing (85 of it on the TD drive) and gained 161 yards on the ground, their conference record fell to 2-3.

The 1975 Football Homecoming Queen candidates were Sherri Atchison, Mary Colon, Jean Ann Eggiman, Karen Kuehle, Susan Petzolt, Terri Weber and Kim Williams. Their respective escorts were John Niswonger, Eric Lee, Dean Kirn, Randy Caldwell, Ivan Heuer, Chris Gross and Tom Williams. Susan Petzdolt was crowned queen at the Homecoming dance on November 8.

Improved Cross Country team has good season

Central's outstanding cross country runner for the third successive year was senior Darrell Steinhoff. Placing highest in each of the ten regular season meets, as well as the district meet, he also had the notoriety of tieing state champion Kenny Young of Dexter.

Four of the top seven places at Poplar Bluff's quad, the team's first outing, fell to CHS runners. After a disappointing fourth at the Farmington Invitational, the team won an easy victory over Jackson and St. Vincent's College.

At the Cape Invitational, the team again finished fourth of ten teams. The harriers then bounced back with two consecutive wins over Bluff-Jackson and Dexter, taking six out of the first seven places. The team took second in the Paducah Invitational, and the Kennett-Bluff triangular. On October 21, Central defeated Dexter and Richland with Darrell Steinhoff tieing Kenny Young in the process.

At District the team placed eighth of the twelve district big school teams. Darrell Steinhoff was again the highest placed CHS runner, finishing sixteenth out of 77 runners.

Along with Darrell Steinhoff, senior Tim Underwood and junior Tim Smirl turned in consistently excellent performances.

Matmen's 7-5 mark best in five years

Consistency was all that was needed to turn Central's 1975-76 wrestling season from a good one to a great one. Within the twelve dual match season, were two three-match winning streaks and a four-match losing streak. Related head wrestling coach Leon Lefler, "We beat Carbondale and they beat Jackson badly, but Jackson really got us."

In tournament action the matmen started off with an impressive second place in the eight team SEMO tournament. Mark Stevens, Jim Morrison, Gary Burk, Wesley Kinder and John Jenkins captured second in their weight classes while Mike Parsons took a third.

Led by Wesley Kinder's first place and the seconds of Mark Stevens, John Tlapek, Mike Parsons, Rick Webb and John Jenkins, the grapplers again finished second, this time in the Fox Quad Tournament.

The wrestlers finished a disappointing sixth in the eleven team Murdale Tournament, with a second being grabbed by Jenkins, a third by Parsons and fourths by Kinder and Steve Buhs. At the Conference Tournament in Jackson, the matmen were edged out of fourth by Farmington by only one-half point. John Jenkins and Rick Webb won their weight classes, while second places were grabbed by Jim Morrison and Mike Parsons. Gary Burk ended up with third place.

Gary Burk's third place was the highest Central placing at the District Tournament. Mike Parsons, Rick Webb and John Jenkins finished third.

Parsons leads in record setting season

Highly impressive were the number of single season records set during the 1975-76 wrestling season. Senior Mike Parsons led by setting new standards for most match points (162), most reversals (28), and most two-point near falls (12). Rick Webb's 38 takedowns, John Jenkins' 20 escapes and Craig Lauxman's 14 three-point near falls were also new records. Mike Taylor's record of 20 wins, set in 1970, nearly fell to Parsons (19) and Jenkins (18).

High marks that were overshadowed by new records were Webb's 161 match points and Jim Morrison's 11 two-point near falls. Other team leading statistics included Gary Burk's 46 team points and Jenkins' and Wesley Kinder's 7 pins. Jenkins also had the fastest fall, with one of 26 seconds.

Roundballers struggle through rebuilding season

Short characterizes Central's 1975-76 Basketball Team. Gone were the 6'10", 6'5" and 6'5" all-staters of the past three years to be replaced by a front line of 6', 6'1" and 6'. This lack of height caused the team to commit many more fouls than their opponents. Despite the disadvantage, the Tigers managed to grab more rebounds and score more field goals than their opponents; but hit far fewer free throws.

One of the highlights of the season was a closely officiated home opener victory over a highly rated Wood River, Illinois, team in which six Tigers scored in double figures.

Probably the best effort put forth by the varsity squad was against Charleston, the state AAA champions. The Tigers led 29-26 at the half, but could not keep up the pace needed to hold off the much taller Blue Jays and fell by one.

Central's fans had little hope for a win against Meridian (who had beaten Charleston by 36) but Mark Rosenthal, David Owens and Blake Miller hit for 53 points as the roundballers stunned the Bobcats 71-70. This win was followed the next night by a very emotional game against Jackson. The Tigers reeled off 14 consecutive points to start the second half, making the score 51-31 and cruised to an easy 73-63 win.

Unfortunately, there were some bad moments. Central dropped both Notre Dame games. The first was a typical Central — Notre Dame clash — lots of noise and excitement — that was dropped in overtime. In the semi-finals of the Farmington tournament, Flat River Central defeated the Tigers by shooting 87% from the field. Central's loss to Crystal City was the first home loss in four years.

Final statistics showed the Tigers' leading scorers to be Mark Rosenthal and Blake Miller with 11.4 and 10.9 per game averages, while the team averaged 59.5 points per game while giving up 63.3 points per game. David Owens led the team in assists with 4.7 per game and Gary Hargens was the leading rebounder with 7.8.

The JV Tigers were led in scoring by Ronnie Rencher and finished the season with a 13-3 record.

Bowman crowned; Bulldogs down Tigers

Scheduling conflicts presented an unusual homecoming. Two homecomings, Sikeston's and Central's, ran concurrently in the CHS gym due to conflicts in Sikeston's wrestling and basketball schedules.

The Tigers were down only 34-33 at the half, but despite the combined 38 points of David Owens and Blake Miller, the much taller Bulldogs prevailed 83-64.

Earlier that night in the JV Homecoming, the Tigers downed the JV Bulldogs 64-60 on the strength of 19 point performances by Ronnie Rencher and John Heines.

Miss Kathy Bowman was crowned by David Owens as the 1975-76 Basketball Homecoming Queen at the Homecoming dance. Presentation of the queen's flowers was made by manager Chuck Hope. Candidates and their escorts included Kathy Bowman and Blake Miller, Jerrie Reid and Chris Stiegemeyer, Tonya Vavak and Dave McQuary, Tracy Wagoner and Mark Rosenthal, and Terri Weber and David Nelson.

Tigers take Conference title

Charges of coaches Van Hitt and Rick Attig were among the most successful of Central's 1975-76 sports teams. The cindermen proved to be the strongest team in Southeast Missouri by winning five times and finishing second twice in their seven regular season multi-team meets. Two of the most impressive wins were a 101-37-36 victory over Sikeston and Charleston (in which the Tigers claimed 13 of 18 possible first place finishes) and a 60 point win at Fox over St. Mary's, Fox and Oakville.

First place finishes by Lonnie Johnson in both long and triple jumps, John Jenkins in the shot put, Kirk Metje in the low hurdles, Jim Schrum in the discus, John Niswonger in the pole vault and Mike York in the 220 gave the Tigers their second consecutive Conference title in Sikeston.

Niswonger's 14' pole vault and Johnson's 22'11" long jump were new Central records. Other outstanding performances included York's 10.0 second 100 yard dash and 22.2 second 220, Jenkins' 52'11" shot put, Schrum's 153' 6 ½" discus throw and Metje's 19.5 second low hurdles.

Kitchen proud of team

Described by head baseball Coach Paul Kitchen as "the hardest working bunch of kids I've ever worked with," Central's 1975-76 baseball team was successful, compiling a 12-6 record.

The rawhiders gained notoriety by being the only Central team to dominate its Paducah Tilghman counterpart by sweeping a doubleheader from the Tornado, 7-1 and 3-2.

Junior pitcher Lacey Bernard shut out Jackson 1-0, on two hits, and then combined with Danny Dewrock to hold the Indians scoreless a second time, 7-0.

Central also defeated defending State AA champion, Fox of Arnold, 7-4, on the strength of a two-run homer by David Wunderlich and a two-run triple by Bob Volkerding.

In the District tournament, the Tigers were seeded first, but fell to eighth seeded Fredricktown, 4-7.

Senior David Wunderlich led the team in hitting with a .379 average and in home runs with three. He also tied Bob Volkerding (who hit .373) for the team lead in hits, 22, and RBI's, 18. Volkerding's 17 runs scored were also a team high. Other .300 hitters included Dave Owens and Tim Leukel, .308; Mike Brandt, .304; and Blake Miller, .300.

Lacey Bernard, Danny Dewrock and Matt Schrader carried most of the pitching duties. Bernard started nine games, finished with a 6-2 record, and led the staff in strikeouts with 55. Dewrock and Schrader both finished 2-2, while Dewrock led the team with a 1.59 ERA.

Linksters finish 4-8

Despite a one stroke improvement (159-160) in the average team score, the record of Central's 1975-76 golf team fell to 4-8. The final record could easily have been 6-6 if it weren't for consecutive one stroke losses to Sikeston and Arcadia Valley.

Central's outstanding golfer was easily junior Dave McQuary. He was medalist seven times during the season, as well as having Central's lowest score in eleven matches and lowest average (37.2). Mike Bertrand had the second best team average with 40.2 and tied with Keith Diebold, who averaged 42.3, in shooting the team's lowest score against Sikeston. Kent Maddox tied with Dave McQuary for match medalist against Anna and had a 41.5 average. Other varsity players and their average scores were Ricky Tiehes, 42.7, and Mark Blaylock, 41.7.

Despite the excellent third places of Dave McQuary and Mike Bertrand, the team finished only fifth (of seventeen teams) at the District meet at Poplar Bluff, thus failing to qualify for the state tournament.

Paducah ends 26 match winning streak

A winning streak, started by the 1974 boys' Tennis Team reached 26 matches after the first three matches of the '76 season. Paducah-Tilghman broke the series of wins in the fourth match of the season with a narrow 4-5 loss. Varsity compiled a 10-2 record with the only other loss being to Sikeston.

Central finished first among sixteen teams at District. The couples team of Vince Fallert and Adrian Toole qualified for State play-offs for the second year in a row, while freshman Rob Hale became the first Central singles player since 1968 to place in the District. Rob emerged as the chird place champion. At State, Fallert and Toole lost in the first round of play 6-4, 6-4 to the doubles team from Kansas City that went on to be number one in the state.

JV team action was limited to two matches. Both were easily won over Chaffee and Charleston.

Jenkins was the recipient of seven Varsity letters during his three years at Central—three in football, two each in track and wrestling. He also gained post-season recognition in each of the three sports.

Unlike previous years, female letter winners were allowed to attend the banquet as well as male letter winners and their parents.

Girls finish third at district playoffs

Inconsistency plagued the Central Volleyball teams as Varsity compiled an 8-2 record and JV won seven and lost three. At first glance both records look outstanding, but they were marred by irratic play which caused close matches with inferior teams. However, against superior teams the girls rose to the occasion, upsetting their opponents.

A trip to the district playoffs with a chance to go on to the first state playoffs for volleyball was the highpoint of the season. Again, the girls played the "spoilers" as they finished third after being seeded sixth.

Senior Sue Schlick was an outstanding performer for the Varsity squad as was freshman Lynne Hollis for the JV team. Peggy Butler, Varsity, and Gayle Winkler, JV, both led their respective teams in points scored while serving.

Golf moves to fall; new coach takes over

Placing second in District behind Arcadia Valley proved to be the biggest accomplishement of the girls' golf team. After falling to Arcadia by one stroke, the squad came back with four straight wins by dealing Kennett and Sikeston two defeats apiece. The linksters fell to Arcadia again, closing the season with a record of 4-2. Team scores were cut by 25 strokes while individual scores improved by as much as nine strokes over last year's averages.

With the movement of the girl's golf season from spring to fall, several girls were forced to decide between golf and another sport they had participated in previously. As a result of the change, only one letterman and one senior returned.

Cindy Sander, number one golfer on the team, had a 56 hole average. Lisa Chirnside, Carla Proffer, Suzanne Shelton and Susan Anderson completed the varsity team.

Second year tennis team sends two to state

Missouri's first state girls' tennis meet was attended by the doubles team of Susan Strom and Penny Rust. Central tied with Sikeston for the district championship and had an undefeated season.

After capturing first place at district, the team of Penny and Susan, undefeated in regular season, earned the right to travel to state. The duo was eliminated in the second round of state play by Springfield.

Injuries sustained from an automobile accident possibly prevented the doubles team of Barb Lovinggood and Tammy Price from going to state, also. Tammy Pledger took Barb's place, but inexperience in playing together held the number one seeded team to fourth place.

Marred only by a tie with Sikeston, the regular season record was 9-0-1. In the squad's first three matches, all were won with little trouble. In the last six meets of the season, only nine of 60 individual matches were lost.

Winning averages of 87 in doubles and 77% in singles were compiled over the season. Tammy Price was the only player undefeated in singles play.

In its only two matches of the year, the JV tennis team soundly defeated Chaffee 8-2 and 8-3.

Girls boast 5-4, 7-1 first-year records

Apprehensive fans turned out for what proved to be a disappointing first game for the newly-organized girls' basketball team. Despite the first game loss to the experienced Kelly squad, both teams came back to win all of their remaining home games including Varsity's one point thriller over the Jackson Indians.

Tough competition for the girls was shown only by Jackson and Kelly where three losses were accumulated — two to Kelly and one to Jackson. The Tigeresses easily romped over both the Chaffee and Shawnee teams.

The 35-29 loss to Northwest of House Springs in the regional tournament held at Desoto could be attributed to poor free throw shooting. Central hit only 5 of 24 while Northwest made 11 of 24.

Bev Slaughter led Varsity in rebounds and also scored 62 points for the season, while Gail Kirk shreaded the nets with 100 points for JV.

Five qualify for state

Extraordinary performances, a trend established by Central's first year Girls' Track Team in 1975, was continued again this year when five girls qualified for state competition. At State, Bev Slaughter captured third in the long jump and Lynne Hollis finished sixth in the high jump. The 880 Medley Relay Team and 880 runner Nancy Kennedy were the other representatives.

Regular season meets were few for new head coach Jean Pate and team. In dual meets, the tracksters topped Charleston and fell by four points to Jackson. At the Charleston and Jackson triangular meets they received first and second, respectively. Central took fifth place in both the Paducah Invitational and the Rebel Relays. At District, the girls placed third.

Cheerleaders support girls' basketball

In addition to cheering for boys' football and basketball, the Varsity and JV cheerleaders also cheered at girls' basketball games. Continuing the practice started last year, the girls delivered candy to basketball and football players on nights before games.

For the first time, all three of Central's cheerleader uniforms were worn: the traditional sweaters as well as both the orange and black skirts and the short uniforms. By collecting bottles, selling booster buttons and having a car wash, money was raised for short uniform tops, Homecoming corsages, plaques for senior cheerleaders, football and basketball players, and materials for locker signs.

Several new chants and a new cheer, "We are the Tigers", were used this year.

Girls overcome problems in routines

Problems with the music for the Pom Pon girls' routines plagued several pep rally and halftime performances. During the first Notre Dame game performance the recording of "Meal Ticket" stopped, but the girls continued and finished the routine.

Changes from last year included the return to a single 40-girl squad for basketball season (as opposed to two 20-girl squads), and the squad performing for the first time at pep assemblies.

Elimination of floor cheers during wrestling matches was caused by the decision to hold both Varsity and JV matches at the same time, abolishing between-match breaks. Again, the wrestling cheerleaders sponsored the annual wrestling banquet. Especially honored was Leon Lefler, who resigned as head wrestling coach.

Honors

Honors for Centralites began early last summer with Girls' and Boys' State and continued throughout the year until the Awards Assembly was held on May 28.

An addition to the honors given at Central each year was the Youth of the Month program sponsored by the Breakfast Exchange Club. Also, a first was the election of 21 outstanding Seniors rather than the traditional 20. This was after the senior class voted to a tie on two of the candidates.

Without a doubt, the accomplishment of students at Central during the 1975-76 school year made our time a unique experience.

Twenty-one seniors selected due to tie

Twenty Outstanding Seniors are selected each year by the graduating class after being nominated by the Girardot staff. Due to a tie, 21 seniors were chosen for this honor. Requirements for nomination were that students be in the upper fourth of their class and be involved in at least two extra-curricular activites.

National semifinals in Oklahoma City, Okla., culminated Don Calvert's American Legion Oratorical Contest travels. Honored as one of 12 national semifinalists, Don reached Oklahoma City after winning county, district, zone, state and regional competition.

In the Voice of Democracy Oratorical Contest, Nick Wagner placed first in county competition.

Jeanne Love was awarded a $1,000 scholarship by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. The scholarship was given on the basis of her high PSAT and SAT test scores.

Senior girls and faculty members voted Carole Rickard the recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution Award. The award, given annually, is based on outstanding leadership at school as well as in the community.

Quill and Scroll honors 15 students

Induction into Quill and Scroll, an international honorary society for high school journalists, required that the students have 60 inches of printed copy and high scholastic standing. Fifteen students were added to the seven members in Quill and Scroll.

Carole Rickard was presented with the Yearbook Award and Rhonda Metheny received both the Newspaper and Missourian Achievement awards at the annual Publications Banquet.

Students attend annual workshops

Seniors attending Boys' and Girls' State learned the fundamentals of government while participating in various workshops and tours during the summer. During the ten day workshop, students campaigned for positions in government and held offices similar to those in state government.

Honor society inducts 65

National Honor Society was again the highest honor a student could achieve at Central. Forty-six juniors and 22 seniors were inducted into the society in May. Serving as officers this year were Don Calvert, president, and Dean Kirn, vice-president. Filling the positions of secretary and treasurer were Jean Ann Eggimann and Jeanne Love, respectively.

In order to be inducted into NHS a student must have had an 8.0 (S) average. Another requirement was the student must have participated in three or more activities for which he did not receive grade credit.

Induction included a banquet in the Junior High cafeteria and ceremonies held in the CHS auditorium.

Fourteen win honors at business contest

Cape was number one at the SEMO District Business Contest with over 3,000 students from Missouri participating. Fourteen students won trophies in Typing, Shorthand, Bookkeeping, and Business Knowledge and Ability. All first place teams and individual winners were eligible for State Competition held in Sedalia, Missouri. Central made a good showing at State, with nine students taking five places.

In VICA State Competition, Gail Hale received a first place trophy in Specific Related Foods. She was the only Central student to place.

Trophies were awarded to industrial arts students in Metals, Drafting, Woodworking and Power Mechanics at the annual Industrial Arts Fair at SEMO.

Hardeman, Love receive W.A. Shivelbine Award

In memory of Rick Samuel and Phil Cloud, former Central music students now deceased, the Samuel-Cloud Scholarship is awarded annually to a Central music student in recognition of outstanding service and loyalty. Shelly Cannon was this year's recipient. Two outstanding band students, Glen Hardeman and Jeanne Love, were granted the annual William A. Shivelbine Memorial Award. Both awards were given at the band banquet held at Pizza Inn.

Interest

Involvement was the key for students as they expressed their interests at school. The Afro Club changed its name to Black Dahlia. Interested students joined new clubs such as the Grotto Club and AIDEM (a library oriented club). These and more, insured that our time was ever present.

Former Afro Club becomes Black Dahlia

To raise money for the Black Dahlia Ball and a trip to Six Flags, Black Dahlia members organized a talent show and sock hop, sold candy, conducted a fish fry, and merged with Red Dagger for a volleyball tournament under the sponsorship of Clarence Finley and Steve Lukens.

Mr. Finley reflected that the name of the club was changed to get away from the stereotype that tends to parallel the word Afro.

At the ball, Mike Spicer and Sherry McClellon were crowned king and queen from candidates which also included Paul Bedell and Lonnie Johnson for king, and queen candidates Linda Conner, Gloria Jones, Bev Slaughter and Mary Webb.

Red Dagger produces 'The Man Who Came to Dinner'

Penguins, long hours of work and a mummy case were associated with the fall Red Dagger production, "The Man Who Came to Dinner." The play involved most of the club's members in the cast and either the on-stage or off-stage crews. Many of the members were active in all three.

Women's lib struck Red Dagger this year in full force. Of five officers, four were females. Mary Kogge and Denise Haman, both juniors, served as president and secretary, respectively. Seniors Rhonda Metheny and Lee Ann Thomas rounded out the female leadership as treasurer and historian. Bill Pollack, vice-president, was the only male officer.

Selling candy and holding a bake sale were two money making projects. Another fund raising activity was a baby picture contest in which Central students were to guess which baby picture revealed the younger side of faculty members.

Many of the club's members were active in the 1975-76 presentation of "The Sound of Music." Red Dagger members captured many leads and top technical positions.

A spring acting workshop was created by the members wanting to learn more about the aspects of acting and direction.

The club presented a scene from "Where Have all the Lightning Bugs Gone" and "Scenes From the American Way."

Two new clubs added to CHS activities

AIDEM, the Library Club formed this year, was organized by Miss Cathy Griffin to help students understand and use the library. The Club toured Kent Library and viewed a play, "Misalliance", produced at SEMO State University.

Slide presentations from the SEMO State Grotto Club highlighted the first year of the CHS Grotto Club. Among the list of caves explored were Crevasse, Klumps, Lost and Found, and Pipistrelle.

Paraphernalia necessary for an outing included helmets, boots and coveralls, which were found to be indispensible. Students provided their own gear this year, but president Lee Trowbridge expressed hopes that the club could provide these in the future.

Foreign language clubs host service projects

Authentic Roman dress and a simulated Roman meal characterized the Latin Banquet. Other Latin Club activities included carving pumpkins at the Halloween party and sponsoring a walker from their club in the Walk-a-Thon.

Selling Spook Insurance, Christmas wrapping paper and cookies were projects taken on by the Spanish Club. Providing an Easter basket to a needy family was the club's service project.

In addition to having a garage sale, a picnic and three dinners, French Club members provided needy families with Christmas presents and an Easter basket.

The International Tea was attended by all foreign language clubs. The tea, held in the Hirsch Tower, provided an opportunity for club members to meet foreign students and families from the community. Christmas caroling at area nursing homes also drew members from all the language clubs.

Males challenge membership rules

Men's liberation displayed by James Zimmer and Randy Statler caused controversy over the membership rules of Central's largest club, the Tigerettes. After attending meetings for several weeks as non-members, the two finally yeilded to the no-male rule.

Directed by Susie Petzoldt, president for two terms, the girls' major money-making project was a bake sale. Through the competition between classes, $300 was raised to use for the Homecoming dances.

After being divided into squads, the girls decorated the halls before each game. Any girl not there to decorate when her turn came was required to pay 50 cents.

Council alters policies

Student Council representatives were elected at large this year, instead of by homerooms. Only registered voters were allowed to vote.

As future presidential candidates prepared to run in the spring, a screening board was developed to interview each candidate and choose the most qualified and capable.

Effective next fall, amendments limiting SC membership to 36 and allowing the entire student body to vote on officers were passed in the spring.

Activities included a spaghetti dinner raising money for the Cape County Juvenile Home, a student Council Convention, held at Central, and a successful informal dance.

Juniors hold top posts in Radio News

Top-ranking positions in the 1975-76 Radio News Club were all held by juniors, a first in the club's history. Tryouts were held early in the fall. Mark Blaylock was elected president and serving as vice president and secretary-treasurer were Theresa King and Lee Hollis, respectively.

Highlights for the Speech and Debate Clubs included trips to Parkway West, Parkway Central and Perryville. Those qualifying for state competition in Speech were Maureen Stranahan, Nick Wagner, Lee Ann Thomas, Liz Dzur, Bill Pollack and Becky Restemyer.

Patron ads aid publication

Valentine sales, patron ads and bake sales helped to raise funds for the Central Light anthology. Co-editors for the anthology were Barbara Myles and Kim Werner. They were aided by Jeanne Love, as business manager, and publicity manager Pat Estes.

Let's Write, Central's writing club, has been revived off and on through the years. Highlights of the club this year included visits from novelist Dr. Nolan Porterfield and Mrs. Alice Procter, fiction writer.

Tiger receives three awards

Eventful accurately described volume 56 of The Tiger. The Tiger again received All-Missouri and All-American ratings. George H. Gallup Award, given to only thirty-six high school newspapers in the nation, was awarded to The Tiger for the first time. Other noteworthy events included the election of Rhonda Metheny as editor for both first and second semesters.

Staff members also received individual honors. Ann Vangilder won first place in the news story division. Kirstie LaLumendiere, Barbara Myles, Rebecca Proctor, Steve March and Greg Ryan rated second place in-depth. Rhonda Metheny took third place in regular column and Pat Davis captured third for his sports column.

Werner leads ad staff

Early graduation of Katie O'Kelly, Tiger ad manager for the first and second trimester, caused a shift in positions. Kim Werner took over in Katie's place during the third trimester.

Journals were prepared by each member of the business staff listing merchants they had visited and the particular sales pitch they used to sell the ad. Each team of salesmen had two weeks to sell their ads for each edition of The Tiger.

Jana Robertson served as business manager. Quarterly billings and balancing the ledger were her responsibilities. Lois Asher held the position of circulation manager. In this capacity, Lois mailed over 100 copies per edition to exchange schools, advertisers and subscribers.

A goal of selling 120 inches of ads per issue was set to help finance the paper.

Blankenship wins Girardot crown

Winter Wonderland was the theme for the 1975 Publications Ball, during which Girardot business manager Beth Blankenship was crowned Girardot Queen. Other candidates were Lisa Chirnside, Gay Gilbert, Sally Hale, Rhonda Metheny, Carole Rickard and Ann Vangilder. The dance was held over the Christmas holidays making it possible for CHS alumni to attend.

A variety of committees from Girardot and Tiger provided decorations, designed the backdrop, and held several money making projects to finance the occasion.

Financial woes ended by projects

Missing deadlines, appealing for unprinted pictures, and repeatedly changing page numbers were all part of the 1976 production of the Girardot.

In order to prevent further indebtedness, money-making projects included a car wash, a bread sale and a small gift sale.

Carole Rickard, editor, reflected the staff's attitude by stating, "It was a lot of fun, but also a lot of late nights and hard work."

Band marches in Bluff half time show

Performances at the Jackson Band Festival and a Popular Bluff half time show were two of the high points for the band this season. They also marched in the Veterans Day Parade.

Band members Shelly Cannon, Stacy Spell and Debra Massey participated in the All-District Band. Ensembles consisting of most of the rest of the band also participated in district contest.

Majorettes win trophy

Majorettes attending the 1975 summer workshop were awarded the Participation Trophy for enthusiasm, courtesy, and participation in all events. Money making projects, a car wash and bread sales were held for the first time this season. Each majorette purchased a new uniform.

Orchestra members attended the Quad-State String Orchestra Festival which Murray State hosted in October. During March they competed in District Contest and received a two rating. Orchestra also headed a SEMO Orchestra Clinic in the spring.

Stage Band inducts seven underclassmen

Auditions held during the spring of 1975, resulted in the admittance of more sophomores to the Stage Band than in previous years. The annual Spring Concert and a concert for the Chamber of Commerce were among the more publicized events of the year.

Supporting the football and basketball teams the Pep Band created an air of enthusiasm at the home games. They also accompanied the pom pon girls and majorettes at the pep assemblies. Director Glen Hardeman stated,"Pep Band was mostly for school spirit, but it was also a lot of fun!"

Interest increases in District Contest

District Contest proved to be memorable this year with more participants than in years past. Chamber and Concert Choirs and the band received "one" ratings, while the Orchestra received a "two". most of the performers, soloists and ensembles, received either a "one" or "two" rating. Contest was held for two days instead of the customary one because of the many participants.

Choir attends International Festival

Washington, D.C. was the sight of the International Jubilee Festival attended by the Chamber Choir. A sample of the choir's talent was sent on tape to the judges of the festival and won it the honor of attendance. The choir was also chosen as one of the top three high school choirs in competition.

In November the American Spirit, a Bicentennial pageant, was presented by the music department. Proceeds from this show went toward the Washington trip. Another major project was a rummage sale which netted $800 profit. Generous contributions from the school board and the Jackson Coca-Cola Company bolstered the choir's fund raising efforts. Many donations were also received from local civic clubs and interested individuals.

Four Bicentennial Awards for outstanding achievements in community action were presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution on closing night of the American Spirit. Miss Inez Smith, who wrote the dialogue for the show, Mrs. Judy Williams, choral director, Mr. Rush Limbaugh, Sr., a participant, and Mr. Rush Limbaugh Jr., who helped research, were the recipients.

Girls' Choir earns "one" rating

District Contest and the Bicentennial Show were two of the major projects this year for the Girls' Concert Choir. They received a "one" rating at District. Newly formed was A Capella mixed choir. They did not participate in contest as a group, though several individuals did participate in ensembles.

Both choirs performed in the Bicentennial Show, Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert. Along with the Chamber Choir, the group made a recording of its best songs. The tape was made during the Spring Concert.

Audience applauds set

Arches, doorways, double flats, and scrims were a few parts of the elaborate set for "The Sound of Music". Over 100 hours of work were put in by the set crew alone.

Lori Launhardt, co-head of the set crew along with Randy Winder, commented, "I was really proud of our set. Especially since it got a round of applause all three performances when the curtain opened on the villa scene!"

Mrs. Dot Pulley and Mrs. Pat Renard designed many of the costumes for the show and with the aid of students, most of the costumes were hand sewn.

The publicity crew worked for weeks in advance on radio spots, advertisements, and other aspects of publicity.

Other crews were props, house, tickets, make-up, lights and sound. All crews worked together in providing a smooth running show.

"Sound of Music" opens to full house

"Do, Re, Mi" rang through the halls during the two months of rehearsal before the musical, "The Sound of Music" by Rogers and Hammerstein. The participants' efforts were not in vain when the show opened to a full house.

Possessing the lead roles in the production were Shelly Cannon as Maria and Kris Shaw as Captain Von Trapp. Supporting roles were held by Libby Estes, Maureen Stranahan and Chuck Cox as Mother Abbess, Elsa Schraeder and Max Detweiler, respectively. Completing the cast of over 80 people were German officers, children, 40 nuns, house guests and house servants.

Mrs. Judy Williams, music director, and Mark McClimmens, director, with the help of Christy Miller, student director, could be heard directing the actors to "sing out" and "play to the audience". With the elaborate rehearsals, an organized show was produced.

Clubs help needy families

DECA members sold crocks of cheese to finance projects they did throughout the year. At Thanksgiving, food was given to needy families; and at Christmas, toys were given to underprivileged children. The annual Employer-Employee Banquet was held to honor the students' employers.

VICA members as well as DECA members participated in District and State competitions in numerous vocational areas. VICA also sponsored basketball games and banquets.

FFA contributed to the Vocational School landscaping project and also took part in District and State horticulture events. Future Secretaries were guests of the National Secretary Association during American Education Week. They gave a Christmas party for needy families.

People

Sunshine, blustery snow days and showers were present, as always, for students to deal with. Although only released from school twice, students found themselves making their way through piles of snow four times during winter. The remainder of February provided students with an early spring which tempted many to take unannounced vacations from school.

Classes strove for superiority in many ways. The canned food drive at Christmas ended in a tie between the junior and senior classes, while for the first time in many years Central made a large contribution to the drive with over 2,000 cans of food.

Clubs, activities attract sophs

Sophomores began their days at CHS amidst a maze of corridors, new policies and an imposing sense of independence. The class of '78 made its presence known by participating in the various clubs and activities CHS offers. Sophomores composed thirty per cent of Red Dagger's membership, and Marching Band boasted of forty-five per cent sophomore membership.

Scholarship was also relatively high among sophomores, as counselor Everett Plunk estimated at mid-year that approximately one-third of the class had accumulated a grade average of S- or better.

JUNIORS-1977

Individual victories are numerous among juniors

Victory and defeat were both a part of the juniors' experiences this year. Though they lost both junior-senior basketball games, individual victories were numerous.

Recognition for artistic talent came to Beverly Wilhelm who won first place in the Navy Bicentinnial Art Contest and to Beth Fischer whose anthology entry was named best overall work.

Susan Strom, Greg Ryan and Barbara Lovinggood were selected for their writing talent to compete in the National Council of Teachers of English writing contest.

Lead roles were filled by juniors when Kris Shaw and Maggie Foster captured the parts of Sheridan Whiteside and Maggie Cutler in Red Dagger's first production of the year, "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Holding Central's top positions in debating, Lee Hollis and Becky Restemyer captured many victories and traveled to state.

Seniors-1976

Senior salesmen journey to the top

Financially, the senior class excelled, bringing in a total of $2,510, the second highest amount raised in the last ten years. Candle sales netted the biggest return, reaping $2,090. Thirty to thirty-five percent of the class participated in this money-making endeavor. Athletically, the senior class kept pace with their successful achievements. They won both the junior-senior boys' and girls' basketball games for the second year in a row, as well as the senior-faculty game. These events brought in the rest of the $2,510. After winning the canned food drive their junior year, the class of '76 tied with the class of '77 during this year's contest.

The senior class continued its hard working habits in the scholastic field. The class boasted 22 students with an E-average or better with 194 students holding an S-average or better. With thoughts of the future, there were 53 early graduates out of a class of 397.

Picnic replaces senior banquet

Among the awards given were: Most Likely to Succeed, Bob Lovinggood; Class Clown, Lori Morgan and Bryan Young; and Class Hustlers, Kim Williams and Chris Stiegemeyer. Raffle winners consisted of Lisa Chirnside, John Niswonger, Susan Petzoldt and John Zimmer, who each won five dollars. The remainder of the picnic was fun and games.

Due the the fact that Memorial weekend fell on the Sunday before graduation, Baccalaureate services were held a week early. The Rev. Howard Hardeman delivered the sermon. He urged the seniors to not only have a sound mind, but to also have a sound body and to build physically for the future.

Glittering stars, shades of blue and flowery railings set the prom theme of "Midnight Blue", for the class of '76. Other candidates and their escorts were Susan Barklage and David McKinney, Cindy Eifert and Mike Parsons, Tammy Price and James Zimmer and Jerrie Reid and Stuart Bahn. Senior Carole Rickard introduced the candidates. Judi Edwards and Terri Roth were co-chairmen for the prom with help from 12 committee heads. Seniors were excused from classes before the prom to add finishing touches to the Arena Building.

Our Time

"Country Fair" provides last fling for seniors

Former judge of St. Louis Court of Appeals, Robert G. Brady, delivered the commencement address to the graduating class of '76. His speech emphasized the need for a balance between the idealistic and material worlds. In appreciation of parents, seniors were asked to stand and applaud.

Raymond Pensel presented awards and recognized valedictorian Barb Myles and salutatorian Mary Harris. Board president Mrs. Judi McBride awarded diplomas after Dr. Arthur Turner presented the class.

"The Country Fair" created an atmosphere of casual entertainment for seniors from 9:30 p.m. to until approximately 5 the following morning. Mrs. Betty Price served as general chairman for the all night party with help from various students' parents. Easy Street and the Manassa South System provided the music.

Board adopts policy

Addition of girls' basketball, a grievance procedure, a self study, and the following policy reflected administrative concern with equal opportunity: "No person attending, being served by, seeking employment with, or being employed by the Cape Girardeau Public School System shall be excluded from participating in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity of the School System on the basis of race, color, national origin or sex."

Other major accomplishments included disproving a Federal lawsuit concerning civil rights, completion of the North Central study, lowering of school taxes for one year, the sale of Lormier School, occupation of the new addition to the Vocational-Technical School, passage of a referendum, and the change from the trimester to the semester-modular scheduling.

New principal joins administrative staff

Getting acquainted with Central was Raymond Pensel's biggest task in his first year as principal. "Many people don't realize the amount of time needed to get acquainted with a new school, the procedures involved in the school, and to obtain the most benefit from the existing strengths."

Preparing to change back to the semester system brought additional paperwork to both secretaries and Mr. Pensel.

North Central Evaluation also demanded a great deal of the administration's time as numerous reports had to be made by October for the visiting committee.

Another major concern was the passing of the bond issue for additional physical education facilities.

Voc. Tech Building adds new facilities

Experience was gained through on the job training at the Vocational Building through the addition of a nursing and a food service program. These classes made use of the new vo-tech facilities that were built last year.

Girls took advantage of new anti-discrimination laws and enrolled in shop and vo-tech classes which were previously open only to boys. General Shop was an example, with one girl enrolled. The industrial arts department again participated in the Industrial Arts Fair in the spring.

Library, counselors open up to students

Desperately needed space was alloted to the library when the bond issue was passed this year. In the North Central Evaluation, the visiting committee commended the library on its "open and inviting appearance." Librarians felt that the library was not used to its fullest extent, though, due to unawareness of the many facilities offered.

Scheduling proved to be a big job again this year for counselors as students continually brought in reasons for schedule changes. The counselors also provided the students with information concerning careers, jobs, colleges, and other post graduation information.

Art, music programs offer wide variety

Attention centered around money-making projects to help finance a trip to Washington, D.C. for the Chamber Choir and the production of the all-school musical, "The Sound of Music". Candy Sales and programs, which included the Bicentennial Program, and the annual Pops Concert, were the main money makers for the music department.

Art students participated in the Naval Reserve Center art contest. First, second, and third place ribbons were awarded to three Central students.

Student requests bring addition of Drama II class

Our time at Central saw various changes in the curriculum. Student demand was the basis for the addition of a Drama II class, but lack of interest caused French Conversation to be discontinued.

Four new English teachers were added as a result of three retirements and two resignations.

TOP RIGHT, English teachers are Raymond Long, English II, IIA, Speech I, Debate; Elizabeth Lockhart, Journalism I, II, Tiger Literary, Tiger Business, Girardot Business Girardot Literary; Mark McClimens, Speech I, II, Drama I, II, Short Story; Melba Myers, Spanish I, II, III, IV, V; Charlotte Malahy, Latin I, II, III, IV, V; Barbara Nourie, Reading Improvement, World Literature, Prose and Poetry, Advanced Composition, English IIA, Short Story; Barbara Shock, Language Arts; Sandy Straubel, Language Arts; Mary Sivia, French I, II, III, IV, V. ABOVE, Mrs. Sivia tapes up a poster above the drinking fountain for French Club.

Two enroll in independent study

Bicentennial programs highlighted the year as various clubs and organizations presented public concerts. The social studies department participated with Junior High and Schultz in a spring bicentennial program concerning the history of Cape Girardeau.

A first in the science department was independent study in which only two students were enrolled. Independent study enabled students that had taken all science courses offered at Central to continue their study of science.

Departments add calculators, films

Our time brought four new mini-calculators for student use in the math department. Two course sequences were open to students — college preparatory and a non-college series. The Math Learning Center gave students the opportunity to work with math materials and equipment.

Eleven new simulator films were added to replace old ones in the driver's ed. department. Students were permitted one hour of driving for every four hours spent in simulation.

New program instituted by P.E.

Water safety was a new program instituted this year for the P.E. students. Sponsored by the Missouri Department of Conservation, the program featured films and lectures on boating and swimming.

Five hundred and ninety-two students used the first aid clinic in the month of September alone. However, Mrs. Jonnie Beeson, Central's nurse, feels her clinic is large enough to accomodate most situations occurring there. She also feels her clinic is well equipped, but is not used to its fullest extent.

"I feel there are many areas in which nurses could serve in the school and community, perhaps more in education — especially the preventive medium," Mrs. Beeson commented.

Debbie Miller, LEFT, contemplates on what the days activities will be.

Drapes accent home economics

New drapes were ordered to accentuate the home economics department. Due to lack of space, several home ec classes were held in different areas of the school.

Twelve electric typewriters were added to the business department during the year as well as new textbooks for Clerical Recordkeeping classes. Tapes were initiated as a new learning procedure in typing classes allowing teachers to view students at work.

Unusual duties greet janitors

Usual duties of cleaning rooms, halls, and the gym after various functions were often interrupted by unusual experiences for the janitors. One such experience occurred one evening after most teachers and students were gone. The locked publications darkroom flooded, soaking the ceiling of the first floor typing room. After many hours of diligent work, the janitors finally overcame the minor catastrophe.

Cooks experienced another year of trying to please the students. Among other things, the staff worked with the Student Council on various food ideas. A council committee met with the cooks once a month to help plan menus and improve cafeteria conditions.

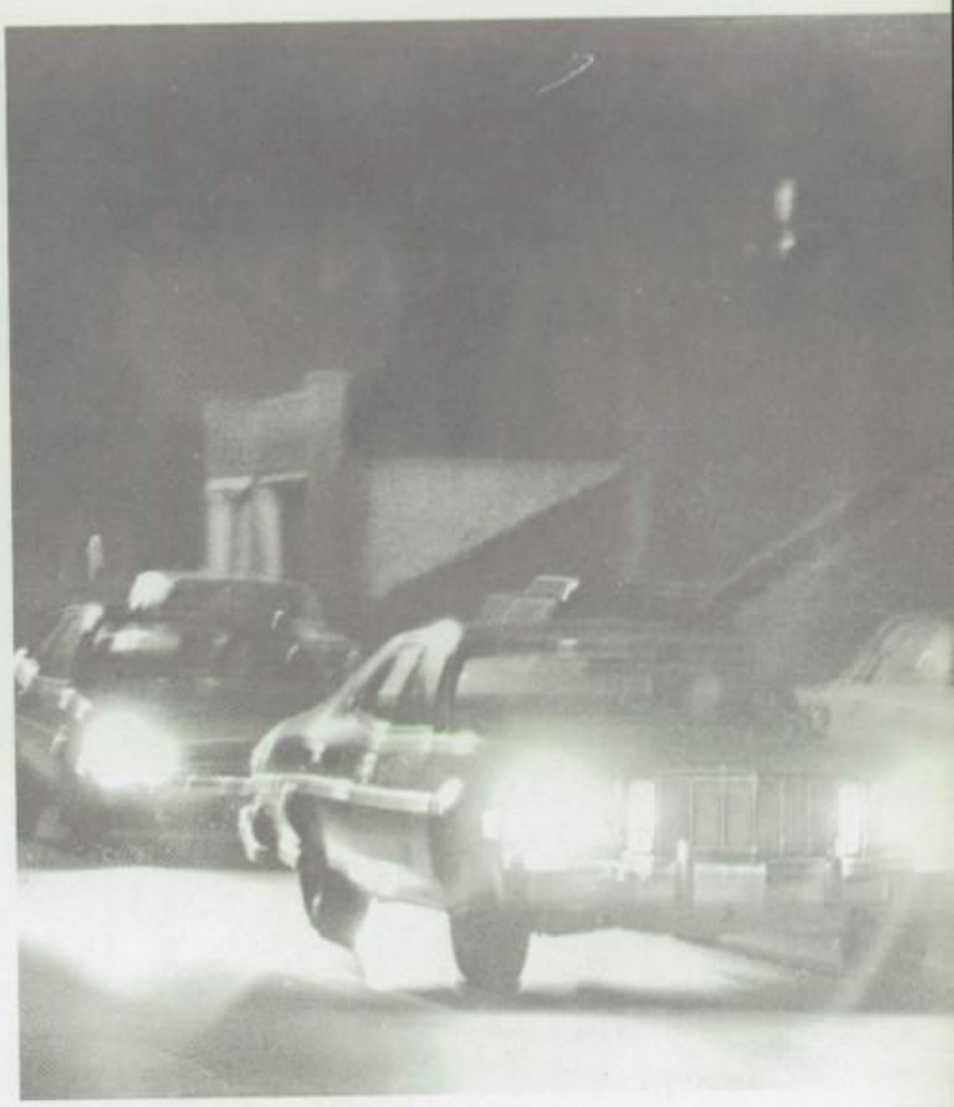
The party was held two weeks before the 1975-76 school year began for the purpose of distributing last year's Girardot.



Ads

Selling was as much a part of our time at Central as sports, dances and classes. Due to a change in rules, students had to eliminate the sale of candy during school hours.

New ways of earning money were therefore instigated. The Anthology Club initiated the idea of selling student patron ads and selling valentines. Some clubs went to the extreme of throwing eggs at people for a small price.

The Girardot, like any other group, had the urgent need for money. The addition of special effects added to the already large yearbook expenses.

Business staff manager Beth Blankenship and her staff began selling ads for the 1976 Girardot in mid-summer. Summer ad salesman also aided in the canvasing of the Cape Girardeau area. The efforts of the staffs helped in financing the yearbook by contributing $2,610.00.

We are —
One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.
— Alfred Lord Tennyson

"Our Time Is Now"

Usually the editor's page is full of garble that no one understands but the yearbook staff. This year I'd like to change that by telling you about this book.

Work began before the end of tbe 1974-75 school year. By the end of summer '75 we had selected a theme, "Our Time Is Now", and had made a rough draft of what was to go on each page. The cover was chosen and designed by the editors because we felt it represented the school and the spirit that many Centralites felt.

That's when the problems began. Every class deadline was missed by our staff. In early April Mrs. Lockhart and I discovered two blank pages in the middle of the book, the darkroom flooded and the musical was presented—utter chaos.

Despite all of the problems we missed no plant deadlines. I missed a few long distance phone calls and Mrs. Lockhart missed her birthday, but we made it! The yearbook rep., George Bockhorst Jr., even threw a bar-b-que for us. You see, Central is notorious for missing its deadlines at the yearbook plant. In the last four years, this was the first time we made it.

I leave Central gladly, but I am sad about leaving my friends and the yearbook staff. Mrs. Lockhart and the entire staff caused me a lot of grief, but it was worth it.

So, Central High, this is your book. We diligently worked on it and in 10 years you might treasure it as much as I do now. We tried to bring out how unique this year was because Our Time Was Now.

Confidential to the staff: Don't forget "Ceebie, eebie foya", "Why Can't We Be Friends" by War, pages 150-151, or the darkroom flood. What would life have been without trying to figure out if Mrs. Liz was pregnant or just putting on weight? — Carole R.

Special thanks to the photographers, not on Girardot staff, who contributed pictures: Fred Lynch, Gordon McBridge, F. Patrick Davis, Mitch Herod, Lee Hollis, Mark Tygett.
